

Abstract of the Disclosure

5 An integrated circuit comprises a memory device including an isolation layer for defining an active area of a substrate, a tunnel oxide layer formed on the active area, a floating gate formed over the active area and the isolation layer, an inter-gate dielectric layer formed on the floating gate, and a control gate formed on the inter-gate dielectric layer. The integrated circuit also includes a high and low voltage transistors.